Youth on Wheels Volunteer recognised for 752 hours of service

Youth on Wheels volunteer Kevin Davis retires after contributing a massive 752 volunteer hours with the program.

Kevin became a volunteer with the learner driver program in 2014, which assists young people to gain the required 75 hours of supervised driving to get their provisional driving licence.

Councillor Shirley Little commended Kevin on his contribution to the program and extended Council's appreciation at a volunteer morning tea held on Thursday 24 June at the Port MacDonnell Community Complex.

"The Youth on Wheels program is so much more than just learning driving skills and providing a supervising driver, the program helps young people to increase their independence and access education and employment options. Over the past seven years Kevin has played a huge part in the success of the program we greatly valued his dedication and wish him the best in his retirement from the program" she said.

Council is currently recruiting for new Youth on Wheels volunteer mentor drivers for two one hour driving blocks per week. The program requires supervising drivers to have their full car licence for the past two years, complete satisfactory police and working with children's checks, and achieve competency in an on road driving assessment.
